

Fair Processing Notice

The DfES has instructed that all schools issue a Fair Processing Notice to all students who are aged 12 or over and to their parents or guardians.

When a student reaches the age of 16, the Fair Processing Notice must be re-issued to the student because the right to opt out of passing on information other than name and address of student and parent to the Connect South West Services passes from the parent or guardian to the student of that age.

The Connect South West Service supports young people, helping them to achieve their potential and to realise benefits from education and training.

No information will be passed to the Connect South West Service until four weeks has elapsed from the issue of this Notice, i.e. if you wish to opt out of information being passed on can you please make your request in writing to the Pastoral Office.

The School has a duty of care to all of our students, and this care comes into being everyday at the start of the school day and whilst the student is on school premises. In order to assist with this duty, the school has made the decision to use a text messaging service to communicate more easily on a number of subjects involving students, such as emergency closure, reminders of holidays and events.

To inform parents or guardians of important issues the Text Messaging Service will send a standard text message to the designated mobile telephone number. Apart from the contact telephone number and the student's first name, no other personal data will be retained by the texting company.

If you require any further information please contact the School.

DATA PROTECTION ACT

Schools, Local Education Authorities (LEAs), the Department for Education and Skills (DfES), the government department which deals with education, the Qualifications and Curriculum Authority (QCA), Ofsted and the Learning and Skills Council (LSC) all process information on students in order to run the education system, and in doing so have to comply with the Data Protection Act 1998. This means, amongst other things, that the data held about students must only be used for specific purposes allowed by law. We are therefore writing to tell you about the types of data held, why that data is held, and to whom it may be passed to.

The School holds information on students in order to support their teaching and learning, to monitor and report on their progress, to provide appropriate pastoral care, and to assess how well the school as a whole is doing. This information includes contact details, National Curriculum assessment results, attendance information, characteristics such as ethnic group, special educational needs and any relevant medical information. From time to time schools are required to pass on some of this data to LEAs, the DfES and to agencies, such as QCA, Ofsted and LSC, that are prescribed by law.

The Local Education Authority uses information about students to carry out specific functions for which it is responsible, such as the assessment of any special educational needs the student may have. It also uses the information to derive statistics to inform decisions on (for example) the funding of schools, and to assess the performance of schools and set targets for them. The statistics are used in such a way that individual students cannot be identified from them.

The Qualifications and Curriculum Authority uses information about students to administer the National Curriculum tests and assessments for Key Stages 1 to 3. The results of these are passed on to DfES in order for it to compile statistics on trends and patterns in levels of achievement. The QCA uses the information to evaluate the effectiveness of the National Curriculum and the associated assessment arrangements, and to ensure that these are continually improved.

Ofsted uses information about the progress and performance of students to help inspectors evaluate the work of schools, to assist schools in their self-evaluation, and as part of Ofsted's assessment of the effectiveness of education initiatives and policy. Inspection reports do not identify individual students.

The Learning and Skills Council uses information about students for statistical purposes, to evaluate and develop education policy and to monitor the performance of the education service as a whole. The statistics (including those based on information provided by the QCA) are used in such a way that individual students cannot be identified from them. On occasion information may be shared with other Government departments or agencies strictly for statistical or research purposes only.

The Department for Education and Skills (DfES) uses information about students for research and statistical purposes, to inform, influence and improve education policy and to monitor the performance of the education service as a whole. The DfES will feed back to LEAs and schools information about their students for a variety of purposes that will include data checking exercises, used in self-evaluation analyses and where information is missing because it was not passed on by a former school. The DfES will also provide Ofsted with student level data for use in school inspection. Where relevant, student information may also be shared with post 16 learning institutions to minimise the administrative burden on application for a course and to aid the preparation of learning plans.

Student information may be matched with other data sources that the Department holds in order to model and monitor students' educational progression; and to provide comprehensive information back to LEAs and learning institutions to support their day-to-day business. The DfES may also use contact details from these sources to obtain samples for statistical surveys: these surveys may be carried out by research agencies working under contract to the Department and participation in such surveys is usually voluntary. The Department may also match data from these sources to data obtained from statistical surveys.

Student data may also be shared with other Government Departments and Agencies (including the Office for National Statistics) for statistical or research purposes only. In all these cases the matching will require that individualised data is used in the processing operation, but that data will not be processed in such a way that it supports measures or decisions relating to particular individuals or identifies individuals in any results. This data sharing will be approved and controlled by the Department's Chief Statistician.

The DfES may also disclose individual student information to independent researchers into the educational achievements of students who have a legitimate need for it for their research, but each case will be determined on its merits and subject to the approval of the Department's Chief Statistician.

Students, as data subjects, have certain rights under the Data Protection Act, including a general right of access to personal data held on them. If you wish to access your personal data, or you wish your parents to do so on your behalf, then please contact the relevant organisation in writing:

- Haygrove School, Durlough Road, Bridgwater, TA6 7HW
- the C&YPD Data Protection Co-ordinator, Michele Weaver, County Hall, Taunton TA1 4DY
- the LEA's Data Protection Officer at The Records Office, Obridge Road, Taunton TA2 7PU
- the OCA's Data Protection Officer at QCA, 83 Piccadilly, London, W1J 8QA; - Ofsted's Data Protection Officer at Alexandra House, 33 Kingsway, London WC2B 6SE;
- LSC's Data Protection Officer at Cheylesmore House, Quinton Road, Coventry, Warwickshire CV1 2WT;
- The DfES's Data Protection Officer at DfES, Caxton House, Tothill Street, London, SW1H 9NA.

In order to fulfill their responsibilities under the Act the organisation may, before responding to this request, seek proof of the requestor's identity and any further information required to locate the information requested.

Separately from the Data Protection Act, regulations provide a student's parent (regardless of the age of the student) with the right to view, or to have a copy of, their child's educational record at the school. If you wish to exercise this right you should write to the school.

Providing information to Connect South West services providers

For students approaching or above age 13, the school is also required to pass on information to Connect South West services providers on request. This information includes the name and address of the student and parent, and any further information relevant to the Connect South West services' role, which is to support young people, helping them to achieve their potential and to realise benefits from education and training. However, parents, or the student themselves if aged 16 or over, can ask that no information beyond name and address (for student and parent) be passed on to Connect South West. If as a parent, or as a student aged 16 or over, you do not want Connect South West to receive from the school information beyond name and address, then please contact the school within four weeks of receiving this note.

The LEA and DfES may supply to Connect South West services providers information which they have about your child, but will not pass on any information they have received from the school if you (or your child if aged 16 or over) have notified the school that Connect South West should not receive information beyond name and address.
